IAP Objectives

- ✓ To develop students and enhance their range of skills that are valuable for future careers, including technical skills and transferable skills such as communication, problem-solving, critical thinking, teamwork, adaptability, and time management.

- ✓ To expose students to the industry they are interested in or studying, allowing them to gain a deeper understanding of industry practices, trends, challenges, and opportunities.

- ✓ Opportunity for students to build professional networks and establish connections with industry professionals, facilitating future job opportunities, mentorship, and valuable industry contacts.

- ✓ Students can explore their career interests and clarify their goals by experiencing a real work environment and gaining insights into different roles, industries, and work cultures.

- ✓ To foster professional growth in students, challenging them, providing new experiences, and offering feedback to develop self-confidence, resilience, adaptability, and a growth mind-set.

- ✓ To integrate academic learning with practical application, helping students understand how theoretical concepts and classroom learning align with real-world scenarios, enhancing their overall educational experience.

Key points to keep in mind on a daily basis (Compulsory by the student).

Before IAP

1. Did you meet your IAP coordinator or any Liaison Officer (LO)?

During IAP

2. Did your company supervisor assess you weekly and record on your Log Book?
3. Did your LO assess your Log Book when you are visited?

After IAP

4. Did you send a Thank You letter to your IAP Company/Institution and give a copy to your LO with a reception stamp & signature? (Compulsory)
5. Did you complete the Student's Report Form?
6. Did you submit your Log Book plus your IAP-Report to your LO for grading within TWO weeks after the completion of IAP?
7. Did the LO sign your Log Book pages?

IAP guidelines

1. Introduction

Preparing for an IAP is crucial to ensure a successful and enriching experience. This guide presents instructions to students on how to make the most out of their placement, starting from the preparation phase, during the placement itself, and concluding with the post-placement phase. Follow these guidelines to maximize your learning, professional growth, and overall experience.

2. Prior to Placement

- Research the Company/Institution where you will be placed and familiarize yourself with it by understand their mission, values, products/services, and any recent news or projects. This will help you align your expectations and demonstrate your interest during the placement.

- Review Placement Objectives and understand the objectives of your placement as communicated by RCA. Review the specific skills and knowledge you are expected to gain and consider how you can actively work towards achieving those objectives during your placement.

- Set personal goals that align with the placement objectives and always reflect on what you hope to achieve during the placement. This will provide a clear focus and direction for your efforts.

- Familiarize yourself with professional etiquette and workplace norms. This includes appropriate behaviour, respect for colleagues and supervisors, confidentiality, punctuality, and a positive attitude. Prepare a professional-looking resume, if required, and bring any necessary identification or documentation requested by the placement host.

3. During the Placement

- Be proactive and eager to learn by taking initiative, ask questions, and seek opportunities to contribute to new tasks, projects, and responsibilities that align with your learning goals.

- Observe and learn from your colleagues and supervisors by paying attention to their work practices, communication styles, and problem-solving approaches. Actively seek feedback to improve your performance and demonstrate your commitment to growth.

- Take advantage of networking opportunities within the workplace by engaging with colleagues, attend company events, and seek mentorship from experienced professionals. Building relationships can open your doors for future opportunities and provide valuable guidance.

- Maintain a growth mind-set by embracing challenges and setbacks as learning opportunities. Be open to feedback, adapt to new situations, and continuously seek ways to improve your skills. Embody a growth mind-set that fosters resilience, adaptability, and a commitment to lifelong learning.

4. After the Placement

- Take time to reflect on your placement experience by evaluating your accomplishments, challenges faced, and lessons learned. Consider how the experience has contributed to your personal and professional growth.

- Document your achievements, skills acquired, and projects completed during the placement. Update your resume or portfolio to reflect your new experiences and competencies. These will be valuable assets when pursuing future opportunities.

- Seek feedback and recommendations by approaching your supervisors or mentors. Request their insights on your performance and areas for further development. These testimonials can be valuable additions to your professional profile.

- Apply the knowledge, skills, and insights gained during the placement to your future academic pursuits or career endeavours. Leverage the experience to enhance your academic performance, shape your career path, and make informed decisions.

IAP Instructions

- Meet your LO

It is very important that you obtain the contact number of your LO where they can be contacted outside office hours in case you may need it. Please consult him or her if you have any problems

- Rules and Regulations

Please note the following instructions for students participating in the IAP:

- Once your IAP placement has been confirmed, you are not permitted to change your attachment or withdraw from the program without obtaining approval from the RCA IAP coordinator.

- It is mandatory for you to adhere to the rules and regulations that govern employees of the IAP company or institution to which you are attached.

- Any instances of absenteeism, insubordination, tardiness, or misconduct reported against you will result in disciplinary action.

- Direct negotiation with the company regarding matters such as the duration of your attachment, allowance, working hours, leave of absence, working conditions, and rules is strictly prohibited.

- During your attachment, you are not entitled to any leave or days off, including returning to RCA or your home. However, in case of emergencies, please seek permission from your supervisor for a leave of absence. Your LO must also be notified.

- For non-emergency situations, you must apply for a leave of absence from the company or institution's supervision and inform your LO. Please contact them during regular working hours, excluding weekends.

- If you become ill, please inform your supervisor that you will be consulting a doctor. A Medical Certificate must be submitted to your supervisor on the day you return to work.

- As an intern, you do not possess the authority to negotiate or influence company-wide decisions, such as changes to the organizational structure, budget allocations, or major strategic initiatives.

- Harassment of any kind, including but not limited to sexual harassment, verbal abuse, or discrimination, will not be tolerated. If you experience or witness any form of harassment during your attachment, immediately report it to your supervisor or the designated authority within the company or institution. Confidentiality and appropriate action will be ensured in addressing such complaints.

- Allowance

The provision of an allowance by the company you are attached to is not guaranteed, unless specifically mentioned in your Placement Notice.

- It is important to note that the allowance provided does not directly correspond to the productivity of your work. It is primarily intended as an out-of-pocket allowance.

- In the event that the company fails to fulfil any officially agreed-upon arrangements at the conclusion of your attachment, please contact the designated person-in-charge within the IAP company or institution to address and resolve such matters.

- If you encounter any difficulties or issues with your IAP company that you are unable to resolve independently, please consult your LO for assistance.

- Accident

- Ensuring safety for yourself and others involved is of utmost importance. In the event of any injuries or hazards, promptly seek medical assistance or contact emergency services.

- It is crucial to inform your supervisor at the IAP site about any accidents that occur, providing accurate details of the incident, including the date, time, location, and a description of what transpired.

- Please be aware that you are covered under the RCA student's Accident Insurance Policy. If you require any necessary assistance, consult your IAP coordinator to ensure that you receive the appropriate support.

- Log book

- Please read the instructions given in this Log Book as well as those written on the forms before completing them. If in doubt, please consult your LO.

- At the end of each day, take some time to reflect on your activities and write down a detailed account of what you worked on, including tasks, projects, meetings, and any notable accomplishments or challenges.

- Use clear and concise language when describing your activities, focusing on key points and outcomes rather than excessive detail.

- Treat your log book as a valuable resource for self-reflection and future reference, as it can help you track your progress, identify areas for growth, and serve as supporting evidence for any reports, presentations, or evaluations related to your IAP
